

CARE AND SUPPORT AWARENESS MONTH

Cosmopolitan Housing Association, in partnership with specialist providers, has a strong history of providing personalised housing support services which help a wide range of vulnerable people to live with independence and dignity in their communities.

During the month of July, Cosmopolitan Housing Association will be supporting the National Housing Federation with their Care And Support Awareness (CASA) campaign. There will be a programme of events and media campaigns which celebrate the work of the Association, and its partners who provide housing support services.

Care and support is a broad term covering all the help, care, support and advice given to vulnerable members of the community. Housing associations and their partners in the community tackle social exclusion, promote sustainable communities and empower people to live independently and achieve their potential through the provision of various services. Housing support services can help people manage their money, get out of the house to do shopping or socialise, find a job and much more.

The idea is to raise awareness of the value that housing support contributes towards regional priorities on issues like social exclusion, housing, social care, health, crime, teenage pregnancy, homelessness and alcohol and substance misuse, as well as enabling people to achieve their potential and enjoying independent and fulfilled lives.
